3. PROGRAM DETAILS

General Information

- Compost bins are containers that breakdown organic waste turning it into usable soil/fertilizer.
- Rain barrels are barrels that collect rainwater from downspouts of your house. This water can then be reused for other purposes such as gardening.
- Bat houses are small cedar houses with chambers to house bats. Bats are beneficial to properties as they eat insects such as mosquitos. A one chamber bat house can house up to 50 bats.
- Bee houses are small houses with “hive like” spaces to support worker bees or lone bees on their pollinating journey.

- Rain gauges are small water collectors that show how much rainfall has occurred.

Subsidy: The NRWD will provide the landowner with a bundle of these items at a lowered cost based on the items chosen below. All orders include bat house, bee house and rain gauge. You must also choose 1 of either Rain Barrel or Compost Bin for $50 total cost. If you want both a rain barrel and a compost bin the subsidized cost is $100.
